TO THE PUBLIC:

Corious to know how far men would go in the work of protest against the maliciously false statements circulated in various ways during the last thirty days (but mainly through the columns of my courteous competitors) concerning myself, THE DAILY POST, and the rate of warrs poid to its employes. I thought it best also to allow the men who imagine they have a better right to conduct my business than myself to go to such extremes as their malice or disregard of the legal rights of others would lead them, if unchecked by opposition or the fear MRS. J. P. PALMER, of consequences.

For a month the local columns of the "Republican" and the advertising columns of the "Star" have contained villainous libels of myself or reports of the actions or boasts of my libellers. Neither in my own paper, nor elsewhere, have I made any reply until now. The time has arrived when I propose not only to defend myself from these falsehoods and slanders, but also to discover whether there is not some law in this District that will protect a man, who is quietly and honorably conducting a legitimate business, from the attacks of irresponsible men, who strike from the cover of secret assemblies, anonymous circulars and unsigned advertisements. If, after having published a daily paper in Washington for six years, paying my debts, and giving steady employment and good wages to a hundred or more persons; if, after having added something to the attractions and value of the Capital City by creeting a fine block of buildings on the site of some miserable shanties, I am to be traduced and libeled, or, as the phrase goes, "boycotted," out of existence, it shall not be until the good people of Washington are informed of the means employed and approve of them so generally as to make it impossible for me to proceed.

It has been stated by an anonymous committee that I do not pay fair wages to my employes, and a dozen or more local Trades Unions have been urged to pass resolutions assailing me upon this false representation. That the public may know how false this is I attach the sworn and unsolicited declaration of the type-setters

To Mr. Stilson Hutchins, Proprietor of "The Post": in justice to curselves as well as in justice to you, to answer certain statements made by the Columbia Typographical Union, frequently, for the last four weeks in the newspapers and before different Trades i nions, that we are paid "starvation wages," and are obliged to labor from ten to twelve hours per night to earn them. Both statements are muliciously false. We make the following declarations and voluntarily qualify to them

1. That the first-grade workmen on The Post average as the pay-roll shows, from $18 to $15 per week, for from six to seven days' work, and seven to eight hours 2. That we are not required to stand around without work, thereby losing time, except at rare intervals on Sunday night; and that we are not obliged to submit to furloughs or loss of time, to give one-fourth or onehalf work to others. That to fifteen full compositors there are but four apprentices. 3. That the price paid us for piece-work-and this we

J. E. Fitzgerald, Frank Campbell. O. E. Flanhart, Subscribed and sworn to by each person signing the above before me, a Notary Public in and for the District of Columbia, this 21st day of November, 1883,

The assaults referred to have been made on me and on THE POST because I will not discharge a foreman and work well and properly, and give the office over to the charge and control of men who assail me.

It may be that THE POST will be broken down by these attacks, but I desire to assure the public that it will be published daily-even if no larger than six inches square-until I have fully established the right of a man to control the business in which he invests his money, his brains and his industry.

THE POST has always maintained the rights and interests of workingmen, and has been their staunch and scknowledged advocate. It has steadily supported the eight hour law, the payment of fair wages, the protection of laboring men in all their rights and the improve ment of their domestic condition by the erection of good and healthy houses for their occupancy. They have always found in me a willing helper, not only in words, but deeds. And yet a number of them, upon the false statements of anonymous assailants, without inquiring as to the truth or felsity of the charges, have passed resolutions accusing me of paying starvation wages and denouncing me as unworthy of support or patronage.

Because, in an article published in THE POST of the 5th of November, it was stated that a number of low drinking shops were kept open on Sunday in violation of law, and that young men and boys were furnished liquor at them to the extent of beastly drunkennessthe raloons of the city have been canvassed and a number of the proprietors have been induced to stop the paper. Merchants have been threatened with a loss of trade if they advertise in THE POST, and subscribers have been insolently warned to discontinue it, under threats of dire punishment. On Sunday last every newspaper in the city was hired to publish an advertisement warning the public against me as one who had employed all of his ability to degrade labor.

The effect of this criminal crusade upon my rights I shall make public. The persons who have stopped THF POST because it would not conceal or defend the illegal keeping open of lew drinking dives on Sundey shall have whatever benefit attaches to their action. As for the men who have libeled me and THE POST by circulars, cards, pretended society resolutions, posters and advertisements in other newspapers, they shall soon have the opportunity to defend their action in the courts. In the meantime I shall expect the support of citizens and business men of Washington who disapprove of such methods of attacking an enterprise because its owner prefers to direct it himself, and refuses to pass it over to the control of those who do not hesitate to employ the weapons of falsehood, of slander and of blackmail.

SECRETARY CHANDLER AND OTHER WITNESSES EX-AMINED-A LETTER FROM GEN. HAZEN. The examination of Lieut. Commander McCalla was continued before the Proteus court of inquiry this morning. The only important fact developed was that the witness had seen at the Navy depart- | will be for the democrats to elect a northern man ment the mysterious memorandum, No. 4, which had been shown to him, he believed, by Commander Walker. Secretary Chandler was the next witness. His testimony tended to show that the Yantic had taken a large supply of provisions to Littleton's island, and returned with nearly the entire store. A LETTER FROM GEN. HAZEN. After the conclusion of Secretary Chandler's testimony Gen. Hazen read a reply to the letter of the board, inquiring what he expected to prove by the witnesses he has asked to have been a faithful and steadfast friend of the southsummoned. He proposed, he said, to prove that the Proteus was an excellent vessel for the purpose of the expedition, well equipped, officered and provisioned with an abundance of the best stores that could be secured; that the navigators were competent and experienced; and that all testimony to the contrary was ill advised. In relation to this he said:-"The bearing of all this upon the subject before the court of inquiry is that a failure to do those duties properly would subject me, by the terms of the order convening this court and by good administration, to trial by general court-martial, which I would amply deserve. I neglected none of those duties, and when that fact is questioned the right to prove in the most unequivocal manner that I did not neglect them, I claim as my right. It is stated in substance in proper efforts were made by the chief signal officer to do all these things, he would not be held accountable for what might happen afterwards. The world, as upon a man who tries to do his work well, and does posed to be dead, and only revived after being paper also accompanied his army. it, from one who does not do it well, no matter how hard he tries. THE CREW OF THE PROTEUS. Dr. Harrison, surgeon of the Proteus, was next placed upon the stand. His testimony was to the effect that the crew of the Proteus was very poor and "behaved villainously." At the conclusion of Dr. Harrison's testimony the court went into executive session, to consider Gen. Hazen's letter and to prepare questions to be sent to Com. Walker, to be answered to-morrow.

The Naval Academy. THE ANNUAL REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT-

NEW REGULATIONS CONCERNING ADMISSIONS TO THE ACADEMY RECOMMENDED. The superintendent of the Naval Academy at Annapolis, in his annual report, states that a new course of instruction for naval cadets was adopted by the academic board in April last, and approved by the department, but was not put fully into operation until he 1st of October. The uniform of the cadets, which has heretofore been made by contract, is now all made at the academy.

ADMISSIONS TO THE ACADEMY. Ninety-four candidates for admission appeared in May last, and 120 in September. One declined appointment, 5 withdrew, 1 was refused examination for being of bad moral character, 69 failed to pass the mental examination, and 33 were found physically deficient. The physical defects of 10 were waived by the department; 115 were admitted. The great advantage gained by those cadets of the fourth class who entered in time for the summer cruise leads Capt. Ramsay to recommend that all candidates be directed to report for examination on the 15th of May in each year. He thinks it would be beneficial to the navy and to the cadets if the law of August 5, 1882, should be so modified that the selection of cadets to fill vacancles in the lower grades of the line, engineer corps and marine corps, shall be made upon the completion of the four years' course instead of upon the completion of the six years' course. The change would send to sea in the cruising ships only cadets to be retained in the service, and would give the navy a more efficient corps of junior

Attention is called to the disparity of pay of those final graduates who, after completing the six years course, are assigned to the lower grades of the line and engineer corps and marine corps. When at sea an ensign receives $1,000 per annum an assistant engineer $1,700 per annum, and a second lieutenant of the marine corps $1,400. An examination of the navy register will show that, at the present rate of promotion, it will be at least fifteen years before the senior graduate assigned to the line can receive the same rate of pay as was at once received by those members of his class who were assigned to the engineer corps and the marine

It might be, he thought, that the editorial of the paper had been distorted or it had been misrepresented "Oh, It's only Jo Brown's influence," put in Representative Evins, of South Carolina, referring to Senator Brown, of Georgia. "It's simply a financial arrangement.

Mr. Carlisle did not believe that the southern members can be scared by the bloody shirt, he said, into voting against their convictions. He was satisfied that sectionalism is dead, and that no effort can revive it. He believed the agitation would only make democrats more determined to elect him, and thus demonstrate that they are not to be influenced by any sectional cry. "It will react," said Mr. Carlisle, "and will make my friends more energetic THE SENATE COMMITTEE ON RULES .- A meeting of and determined." He reiterated his belief that he will be elected.

> AT THE RANDALL HEADQUARTERS. At Mr. Randall's headquarters at the National THE STAR man found ex-Gov. Curtin, Mr. Ermentrout and half a dozen other gentlemen. Mr. Randall, seated on a sofa, was entertaining his friends in an easy, dignitied manner, showing no anxiety whatever. He never looked better in his life, and in his plain, straightforward democratic way, he made everybody who called feel easy. The change of position on the part of the Atlanta Constitution was discussed, and Mr. Randall said that not only the Constitution, but the Macon (Ga.) Telegraph, Savannah (Ga.) News and New Albany (Ind.) Ledger had come out for him. As to the Savannah News he had not been advised directly from the paper, but Mr. Nichols, the member from that district, had informed him of the fact. He had also been assured that the Cleveland (Ohio) Plaindealer had come out for him. "And there are more surprises yet to come," added the ex-

Speaker significantly.

Mr. Randail said the canvass was taking precisely the direction he had anticipated, and he felt satisfied he could count confidently upon his elec-WHAT MR. RANDALL SAYS ABOUT SECTIONALISM. "It is charged, Mr. Randall," interposed The Star reporter, "that you are striving to be elected by bringing sectional politics into the race. Is that so?" "It is false," declared the ex-Speaker, in his most emphatic tone, looking the reporter squarely in the face. Why An Autopsy Was Reld. THE FRIENDS OF A YOUNG SCOTCHMAN WHO WANTED The remains of Mr. Douglas Scott, a young man from Scotland, traveling for health and pleasure in ount of the circumstances attending his death, Mr. Bell determined to hold an autopsy before interment. The autopsy was held under the direction of Dr. Lamb, this morning, at Speare's undertaking establishment. The deceased was subject to fits of epilepsy, and being taken with one on the streets of Pittsburg a few days ago feil and struck the side walk on the back of his head and shortly after died. An inquest was held in Pittsburg, and a verdict was rendered that the death was the result of the fall. The body was embalmed, but when it reached here it was found to be perfectly limp, and there were no marks on the back of the head. It was thought that his friends in Scotland would be

District Prisoners to Go to Concord. In the Criminal Court to-day Judge Wylie said that a letter addressed to District Attorney Corkhill, coming from the Attorney General, had been placed in his hands. It requested "that an order of the court be entered of record that hereafter all persons convicted of violations of the laws of the United States, and sentenced to confinement in a penitentiary for one year or over, be confined in the New Hampshire state prison at Concord, N. H." It further states that the prison is a first-class institu-tion, and that its buildings are new and built in the most modern and improved plan, and "the pris-oner upon his discharge will be furnished by the prison authorities free transportation to Washington, and in addition will receive from the government a suit of clothes and $5 in cash." Judge Wylle said that hereafter all criminals of this District sentenced to the penitentiary would be taken to the state prison at Concord, N.H. THE ISLAND. HAVANA, Nov. 17 .- Day before yesterday all the principal papers contained a short notice, to the effect that they had been notified through the secretary of the government that the bandit, Aquero, and his men had left the Island. No explanations were given, and consequently no one is astonished that the most contradictory rumors are abroad respecting the peaceable departure of a gang of ruf-flans who, for nearly a year, have been the terror of the region where their depredations were committed, the rural and civil guards having failed to capture them. The rumors alluded to state on the one side that Aquero and his band were paralong. SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 22 .- Surgeon VanZandt, of the United States marine hospital, reports two cases of yellow fever in that institution. The pa-tients are two German sailers belonging to a wrecked barque, who were brought here on the steamer Colima from Mazatlan, and were admitted to the hospital on the endorsement of the German consul. The disease developed after their admis-sion. No fears of a spread of the disease in the city are entertained, even should it really prove to be

> Striking Miners. CRITICAL SITUATION AT IRON MOUNTAIN.

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 22 .- A dispatch from Iron Mountain says: There has been no violence as yet attempted by the striking miners at the Chapin & Ludington mines of the Menominee company, but the officers have secretly sent for more police, and It is stated that Gov. Begole has been asked to forward a company of militia as soon as possible. The strikers have forced all the employees to join their ranks, and stopped their pumps Tuesday night, which will cause the mines to fill with water. The fires are now out and the water is gaining rapidly. Pinkerton's men are guarding the machinery. Several shots were fired Tuesday night by unknown parties, which threw women into hysterics and caused a general alarm. The strikers number 1,500, and they have posted notices warning others to keep away from the mines. They have demanded full pay without deduction of board bills or store accounts, but the company refuse to accode to their

THE DISTRICT. The Attorney General has submitted his annual report to the President. It is longer than usual, and is said to be "full of ginger and cayenne peper." He makes some important recommendations, the chief of which is some radical changes in the administration of criminal law in the District of Columbia and in the manner of drawing juries, &c. He shows how far behind the District of Columbia is in such matters as compared with of Columbia is in such matters as compared with other parts of the country or of the world. The necessity of making these changes was borne in upon him during the prosecution of the star route cases, when trivial mistakes, which could easily have been rectified elsewhere, caused endless delay, and evil practices were permitted which never would have been allowed if justice was properly administered.
